Do not just able to complete something or not be able to complete. it is a very specific set of behaviors and technologies. Execution to be implemented in the core processes of operation. there must be the implementation of the operating manual. Because the operation is the execution of the premise. and the theory itself is not operational. a gulf between management theory and practice management - theory is gray. and the practice of the evergreen tree. This gap should use the cement go to bridge that cement is the expression to perform an operation manual for the formation of a clear text. Perform operations manual can not stay in the theory. can not be confined to...
